

AutumnCare rules the delivery of care for the elderly

With the release of the latest version of its award winning software, AutumnCare will change the way aged care services are delivered within the sector.

AutumnCare's Managing Director, Stuart Hope, said "I'm very pleased with the reaction and excitement from clients who have seen a preview – they just can't wait to implement". He went on to say "This release of our software achieves a significant strategic milestone to bring the best technical solutions to the aged care industry. It will change the face of delivering care to aged care providers around the country."

The AutumnCare software now allows an aged care organisation to address some of the fundamental challenges facing the industry – which are the shortage of clinical staff, the need to improve productivity, the need to provide high quality consistent care and the need to meet the standards set by the Government.

The key module being implemented is called "Automated Intelligence" and allows an organisation to create its own clinical and business rules and action them. The outcomes can then be monitored. The system will effectively guide an end user in how the organisation wishes to operate. The intelligence of this software provides the next best thing to having an expert at your side.

AutumnCare is proud to be able to assist the aged care industry in increasing the quality of care whilst also improving productivity.
